

Multiracial Unity Book Club

The UUMUAC Multiracial Unity Book Club currently meets via Zoom on the first Saturday of the month, from 3:00 to 4:30 p.m. Central Time (starts 4 p.m. Eastern, 1 p.m. Pacific). We are currently reading and discussing, over the course of several months, Jonathan Eig's King: A Life (published in the U.K. – but also available in the U.S. – as The Life of Martin Luther King). This book, published in 2023, won a Pulitzer prize for best biography. Individuals who would like to join this book club should contact the book club's Zoom host, Allan Lindrup, at either his personal email (uusj@sbcglobal.net) or at the organizational email (uumuac@gmail.com).

When this book club finishes a book its members shall discuss options for what book dealing with multiracial unity they will next read and discuss. The decision will be made through a voting process
